

PROLOGIS SUPPLIER CODE OF CONDUCT

The Prologis Core Values, as defined by the word IMPACT – Integrity, Mentorship, Passion, Accountability, Courage, and Teamwork – define our actions and relationships. In accordance with those values, Prologis recognizes that ethical business practices are critical to our long-term health as a public company.

As a company that works closely with our suppliers, we have the opportunity to promote healthy and safe working environments. It is also our responsibility to adhere to and improve upon ethical, environmental and social standards throughout our supply chain.

This Supplier Code of Conduct defines the standards to which we hold our suppliers, defined as any firm or individual that directly or indirectly provides a service to Prologis. As it is in Prologis' best interest to improve upon standards throughout the supply chain, Prologis encourages application of this Supplier Code of Conduct to all sub-contractors engaging in business relationships related to the Company.

Prologis expects our suppliers and their representatives to conduct all business activities in full compliance with the applicable laws, rules and regulations of the countries in which they operate while conducting business with and/or on behalf of the Company.

The following expectations for suppliers are in addition to any requirements that may be detailed in individual supplier agreements with Prologis.

We expect our suppliers and their representatives to adhere and self-monitor in accordance to this Code.
