SAN FRANCISCO

AMB Property Corporation(R) , a leading global developer and owner of industrial real estate, today announced that Mark Saturno has been named the company's managing director, West-Central region.

In this role, Saturno has overall responsibility for the real estate activities in AMB's West-Central region which includes Chicago, Minneapolis, the San Francisco Bay Area and Seattle. Saturno is based at AMB's Chicago office and reports to Gene Reilly, AMB's president, North America.

"Mark came to AMB with an impressive and multi-year track record of running operations and capital deployment in the real estate industry. Since joining the West-Central team, he has demonstrated the leadership skills and commitment to teamwork necessary to excel in this role," commented Reilly. "With our outstanding senior management team in North America -- across three regions -- we are very optimistic about the future."

Since joining AMB in early 2006, Saturno has served as senior vice president, director of acquisitions, responsible for expanding AMB's portfolio in the West-Central region. Prior to joining AMB, Saturno was senior investment officer with a national industrial REIT where he served for eight years, overseeing acquisitions, development, asset management and leasing for the Chicago region.

Saturno holds a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Illinois and a Master of Management degree from the Kellogg Graduate School at Northwestern University.

AMB Property Corporation has a West-Central portfolio totaling more than 39 million square feet of operating and development properties.
